

Press Release, April 24th 2015

Deck13 Interactive to partner up with Focus Home Interactive; Next major title reveal at E3

After winning the “Best Presentation” and “Best German Game 2014” at the Berlin Games Week this Tuesday, Deck13 Interactive announces their new partnership with Focus Home Interactive. Work on the next major title has just begun, a first reveal is set for E3 in Los Angeles which takes place from June 16th to June 18th 2015.

Jan Klose, Creative Director & Co-Owner of Deck13

“After Lords of the Fallen, we are eager to expand on what we have learned and want to deliver an even greater experience to the core gamers.

The team we built and the technology we created puts us in a great position to go one step beyond what we have achieved so far.”

Florian Stadlbauer, CEO and Owner of Deck13

“Focus Home Interactive as publishing partner is a perfect fit for us. Their great experience in international marketing and distribution combined with our creativity and tech base sets an exceptional foundation for our next worldwide success.”

The Action RPG Lords of the Fallen sold close to 1 million units on PS4, Xbox One, and PC, according to publisher CI Games. The game was produced at Deck13 Interactive, based in Frankfurt am Main. Deck13 was awarded “Best German Studio 2014” by both the German Developer Awards and the German games industry magazine “Making Games”.

You can find the Focus Home Interactive Press Release here: Click to read the Focus Press Release

More information about Focus Home Interactive: <http://www.focus-home.com/>

More information about Deck13 Interactive: www.deck13.com

Contact:

Marco Süß

PR & Marketing Manager

msuess@deck13.com

+49 (0) 69 716 716 61

www.deck13games.com | facebook.deck13.com | @deck13_de